

DO THE ENDS JUSTIFY THE MEANS?:

A conversation on the effectiveness and effects of the Dutch CFT policy
Wednesday 20th October 2021, 15:00-16:00

Marieke de Goede

Marieke de Goede is a Professor of Political Science at the University of Amsterdam. She has over 15 years of experience researching financial security with a focus on the politics of counter terrorism-financing, financial intelligence and the role of banks in security practices.

Tamara Buruma

Tamara Buruma is a lawyer at Prakken d'Oliveira Human Rights Lawyers. As a criminal lawyer, Buruma focuses on (international) criminal cases with a political component. She also applies her thorough knowledge of European criminal and sanctions law in complex money laundering and fraud cases.

Anne-Floor Dekker

Anne-Floor Dekker is program manager Gender, Peace & Security at WO=MEN, Dutch Gender Platform. She is a passionate advocate of freedom and equal rights of all people and for the implementation of (women) human rights worldwide.

Tasniem Anwar

Tasniem Anwar is a PhD candidate at the University of Amsterdam. She has a master's degree in Conflict Resolution and Governance (MSc) and Law and Politics of International Security (LLM). Her research focuses on the prosecution and investigation of terrorism financing in Europe.

